

Pickleball Bag Necessity!

“Oh No!! Chris just fell on the court! Does anybody know his/her emergency contact information or medical conditions? Who should we call? Where does he/she live?”

Unfortunately, these are words that many of us have heard while playing PB at the Villages. So, the Board has decided that it is important that all PB members have easily-accessible emergency contact information whenever they are playing. And what better place to keep that information? Inside our Pickleball bags!

Thank you to Michelle McQuay for placing two containers outside of Court One: one for empty pill bottles and one with pre-printed Vial of Life forms to put inside your bottle. We need to collect as many empty pill bottles as possible! Can you help us?

Please take only one vial and one form per person. Once you have filled it out, leave it in your PB bag for unforeseen emergencies. Thank you!

According to Vialoflife.com: “The Vial of Life is a smart way to have your medical information on hand just in case of emergency. Most seniors need this because of their medical changes and medications. It’s the right thing to do.

People find themselves in emergencies that make it difficult to think straight. At these times, all emergency personnel (and PB friends) who are trying to help you need to know information about you—especially if you have a complex medical history.

The Vial of Life speaks for you when you can’t speak or don’t feel well.”

Thank you and Happy Pickleballing, Friends!
